The neglected cemeteries . . . insult life itself, for death is an inevitable consequence of birth. By treating the disposal of the dead as though the problem were one of refuse collection, society devalues life.

-- James Stevens Curl, A Celebration of Death

MANAGEMENT SUMMARY

The St. Elizabeths West Campus cemetery is an exceptionally historic resource for the District of Columbia, and especially for the hospital grounds. In fact, the cemetery is a portion of the grounds listed on the National Register of Historic Places. This is recognized by the General Services Administration (GSA), as evidenced by this study. Cemeteries, however, are very different from virtually all other types of properties that GSA administers.

- ❖ They are sacred sites – consecrated within are the remains of loved ones deserving of the utmost of care and respect.
- ❖ They are artistic sites, such as sculpture gardens or outdoor museums, representing permanent collections of three-dimensional artifacts requiring the same level of care that museums provide.
- ❖ They are archives – storehouses of genealogical information, representing our individual and collective pasts.
- ❖ And they are scenic landscapes – like parks or open spaces, but requiring far more focused and specific care.

In sum, cemeteries are social, historic, architectural, and archaeological artifacts. When there is little else physically remaining of a community's earliest history, the local cemetery provides a unique tie to the past that would otherwise be lost.

Therefore cemeteries require very specific consideration and different care from the other types of open sites found in most communities.

In the case of the St. Elizabeths West Campus cemetery, the cemetery includes both military dead from the Civil War, as well as what were termed “friendless” patients, buried by the hospital “without ceremony.” The cemetery reflects an extraordinarily rich history; yet, this history was not sufficient to prevent the hospital from recreating the graveyard's history and developing a myth of a white cross that persists even today.

In addition, over the years the West Campus cemetery has failed to receive the care and attention that it both deserves and requires. As a result of these years of deferred maintenance, a number of issues – many of them critical and costly – require the immediate attention of the GSA.

This report evaluates these needs, classifying them into three broad categories:

- ❖ Those issues that are so critical – typically reflecting broad administrative issues and issues that if delayed will result in significantly greater costs – that require immediate attention during the first fiscal or calendar year after receipt of this study.
- ❖ Those issues that, while significant and reflecting on-going deterioration and concerns, can be spread over the next 2 to 3 years. This allows some budgeting flexibility, but this flexibility should not be misconstrued as a reason to ignore the seriousness of the issues.
- ❖ Finally, those issues that represent on-going maintenance and preservation issues. These costs can be spread over the following three to five years. Like the Second Priority issues, this budgetary flexibility should not be interpreted as allowing these issues to slide since further delay will only increase the cost of necessary actions.

The First Priority Issues have a budget of approximately $51,200.

- ❖ The bulk of these costs are for work recommended by Bartlett on the cemetery trees, including the removal of four (but not including stump grinding which is not appropriate in a cemetery context), replanting four oaks, pruning all of the trees in the cemetery, and basic fertilization. The total estimated for these activities is $41,000.
- ❖ The other major expenditure involves first priority conservation needs, including the repair of several stones, consolidation treatments, and replacement of 22 stones. These costs are estimated to be about $10,000.
- ❖ We also recommend the removal of the existing cemetery sign on the stone wall. The name “Civil War Cemetery” is inappropriate since the cemetery was initially intended for the use of patients – and by all accounts continued serving that function throughout its history. The existing sign as perpetuates the myth of the white cross – created late in the cemetery’s history and having no basis in reality. The cost of removal is estimated to be $200.
- ❖ Other actions have negligible costs since they are administrative or planning related. For example, we recommend that all decisions concerning the cemetery be made in the context of the Secretary of the Interior’s Standards for Preservation and that all historic fabric be preserved whenever possible.
- ❖ We recommend that security patrols continue on a regular basis, although an effort should be made to allow public access at reasonable times.

- ❖ In terms of planning, it is critical that the setting be protected from visual intrusions. It is equally critical that planning incorporate clear provisions for the cemetery’s adequate long-term maintenance, clearly a responsibility of the government.
- ❖ Current maintenance should be continued, but improved. For example, we have noted a great deal of recent stone damage from mowers and trimmer lines. Crews responsible for the cemetery upkeep should be held accountable for all damage; mower decks should be padded; and trimmer line should not exceed 0.065 inch.

Second priority issues are estimated to cost about $115,000, although this may be spread out over several years.

- ❖ Approximately $52,000 will be needed to establish an appropriate turf grass for the cemetery. This is not simply an aesthetics issue; a good turf grass will minimize maintenance and reduce damage to the stones.
- ❖ We recommend $15,000 for additional historical research. In particular this research should seek to identify the civilians patients buried in the cemetery. It is important that GSA give a voice to these “friendless” individuals who currently lay forgotten in unmarked graves.
- ❖ An additional $15,000 is allocated to the improvement of the vista and road shoulders on the route to the cemetery. This will involve removing downed timber, refuse, and other debris. The access road should remain graveled, although it requires approximately $8,000 of work to stabilize the road base.

- ❖ Second priority conservation treatments, consisting largely of stone resetting, are estimated to cost approximately $15,000. This work may be combined with the Phase 1 work at a savings to the government.
- ❖ Placement of new informational and regulatory signage is estimated to cost $5,000, although this figure will vary with the type of signage chosen. We provide critical regulatory information that should be posted. The informational signage should balance the story of the military dead with the burial of civilian patients from St. Elizabeths. Both stories must be told.
- ❖ Finally, we recommend that the iron Confederate crosses, apparently placed on graves prior to the federal government allowing use of military stones at public expense, should be recast, using the one recovered as a model. These should be reinstalled in the cemetery, while the original is conserved and stored in a suitable repository, such as the Smithsonian Institution. A sum of $5,000 is allotted to this task.

The items listed as third priority are those that can be spread over five years – perhaps extending into FY 2012-2013. These issues, however, are no less significant and will have a cost of about $66,700 (not reflecting inflation or continued deterioration; nor does the cost reflect the on-going salaries of the staff needed to maintain the cemetery). These costs are also similar to those previously outlined, but are able to be postponed short-term.

- ❖ The cemetery's conservation status should be re-evaluated in five years, at an estimated cost of $5,000.
- ❖ The largest budget allocation is $40,400 for the completion of the Bartlett recommendations, including necessary cabling and bracing, pest control activities, and lightning protection.

- ❖ Finally, we allocate $21,300 for the replacement of the chain link fence with a more historically appropriate wood picket fence, based on the available historic photograph.

While the allocation of just over $233,000 is not inconsequential, it represents a small sum given the extensive work proposed for the remainder of the St. Elizabeths Campus. In addition, much of the work necessary at the cemetery is the result of deferred maintenance, with damage accumulating over the cemetery's 150 year history. Failure to act will not save the taxpayers money, it is result in the loss of this historic resource.

It is equally critical that the cemetery not be "lost" in the planning process. Long-term care and maintenance are critical for the resource's survival.

APPENDIX 2. MONUMENT INVENTORY

Following are inventory forms for each of the markers identified in the West Campus cemetery during our January 2007 work. These forms include pertinent information concerning the monument itself, including the type, the stone type, and the marker size. Also included is a complete transcription of the marker. We provide brief observations concerning the condition of the marker and grave, such as the amount of tilt, physical damage, and orientation. Each stone has also been photographed, providing visual documentation of its condition and placement at the time of this study.

Each stone is listed with two numbers: the one on the top is the stone number – which has been carved into the stone and reflects the ordering of the stones in the cemetery. The bottom number is that assigned by ZAI and is alphabetical. By including both numbers we hope that it will be easier for future caregivers and researchers to identify and track these stones. In Appendix 3 we provide a series of lists that correlate these numbers, as well as what has been called the “Entry Number” – yet a third numbering system in use at the cemetery.

Under “Recommendations” we provide brief conservation treatments, as well as a priority. The priority recommendation (included under “comments”) is based on five levels of need:

1. Objects that are unstable and require treatment as soon as possible. Examples include stones that are broken and laying loose in the cemetery since these are subject to additional damage or theft (there are eight markers for which treatments are proposed). Also included as Priority 1 stones are those so damaged that we recommend replacement (22 stones are recommended for replacement). These actions should occur within the current fiscal or calendar year.
2. Objects that are unstable and likely to experience additional, ongoing deterioration. If ignored, the cost of these treatments will escalate as the stones become more seriously damaged. We have placed 106 markers in this category. All of these treatments are resetting stones that are so tilted they are at a higher than normal risk of damage. This work should take place over the next 2-3 years.
3. Objects appear stable at present, but they should be re-inspected in 5-10 years to determine if the condition has changed. We include 79 markers. Some are tilted, but not so much that we recommend resetting.
4. Irreparable. These objects have either suffered so much damage or have so little original fabric remaining that repairs are not possible using available techniques. There are four stones that fall into this category – all represent mid-sections or bases without engraving or other identifying features.

The original stones in Priority 1 recommended for replacement should be either destroyed or conveyed to a museum with documentation that all are duplicates. It is important (and a requirement of the VA) that multiple government stones for the same individual do not exist since this is likely to pose problems in the future.

For those replacement stones where the information is too illegible to read we recommend that the replacements simply be engraved "U.S. Soldier" – the traditional wording for unknown dead. While it is regrettable that graves are lost, guesses should not be made concerning the information.

The costs identified in the preceding report are based on the treatment being carried out by a stone conservator subscribing to the Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice of the American Institute for Conservation of Historic and Artistic Works, the minimum credentials that should be demanded by the GSA. The costs are based on 2007 salary rates and supply costs. It would be reasonable to add a minimum of 8% additional per year delay beyond 2007 (although some costs, such as chemical supplies, are escalating far more rapidly). The costs do not include travel, per diem, or lodging since these fluctuate dramatically and since the per object cost declines as more treatments are proposed.

All information given and recommended in the treatment proposals is based on our research and is believed to be accurate. However, no guarantee, either expressed or implied, is made with respect to the proposals. As stones are taken apart it is possible to discovered hidden damage.

APPENDIX 3. LIST OF INDIVIDUALS IDENTIFIED

The lists following provide a synopsis of the stones present in the West Campus cemetery, listed by name, stone number, ZAI number, and entry number. The stone number, as previously explained, was intended to help the government track the burial and should be a distinct identifier. The ZAI number is taken from their publication for GSA (and represents essentially an alphabetical listing). In many cases there is more than one ZAI number since there have been duplicates through poor transcription. Finally, the entry number comes from a 1974 list prepared by Mrs. B.L. Munger, Public Information Officer with St. Elizabeths. They may have been derived from documents now in the National Archives, or they have no relevance, other than that they represent yet another numbering system.

Table 9.
List of Stones Present in the 1990s But No Longer
in the West Campus Cemetery

Stone #	ZAI #	Name
49	38	Braden, Robert L.
381	42	Bricker, Henry
102	94	Curtis, John
103	123	Farrar, Samuel J.
98	134	Frazier, Ira
389	140	Gibson, Thomas
17	146	Griffin, Edward
93/138	154	Hartigan, Edward
83	171	Horan, George
16	181	Johnson, John
228A	210	Lee, John M.
2	214	Lerreux, Charles
214	223	Mann, Jordan
100	225	Marcus, Simon
385	226	Marsh, Arthur B.
376	257	Monreau, James
13	320	Spank, George
390	326	Streeter, Stephen

The spelling of the name is consistent (as closely as possible given the weathering and damage) to that on the stone. Given the poor records of St. Elizabeths, the spelling may, or may not, be correct. There are significant differences between this list and that published by All For the Union at <http://www.allfortheunion.com/ste/CW.htm>. We believe that our spellings are accurate for the stone - although the stone itself may contain misinformation.

Since the last inventory of the cemetery in the 1990s we have identified 23 stones that are no longer present. These are presented below in Table 9. The attrition rate is significant, given the relative obscurity of the cemetery and its location on government property.
